

I'd like to comment on why cellular telephone use should NOT be allowed on airborne aircraft.

First, there is no substantial evidence that cell use does NOT interfere with navigational equipment.

Additionally, cell phones would allow terrorists to coordinate plans of action more quickly.

Finally, as working flight attendant, I believe cell phone use during flight makes an already tense cabin setting even more stressful.

Sincerely,

Dana Grinwis (Frontier Flight Attendant)